Introduction

Many volunteers and volunteer organizers enjoy participating in and organizing charitable events. Despite this, many volunteers and organizers fear the liability issues that go along with performing these tasks. Can volunteers be sued and held liable for a negligent act performed in the course of their volunteer duties? What about the nonprofits or other volunteer organizations: can they be held liable for a volunteer's negligent act?

In response to a request to compile liability information for organizers of beach clean-ups, the National Sea Grant Law Center conducted research on liability issues facing volunteers and volunteer organizers. The following document gives an overview of the federal and state volunteer liability laws, as well as additional issues and doctrines that may apply to volunteers and volunteer organizers. The document addresses volunteer, organizational, and corporate liability separately. Beginning on page 4, an Appendix includes state laws that address volunteer liability. The compilation of state laws does not include "Good Samaritan" laws or laws relating to specific groups such as hospice volunteers, fraternal benefit society volunteers, or volunteer firefighters—with an exception for volunteers for beach cleanup programs.
Volunteer Liability

Federal

The federal Volunteer Protection Act of 1997 (VPA) is the primary federal law providing individual volunteers with protection from liability. The purpose of the VPA is to promote volunteer activity by providing "certain protections from liability abuses related to volunteers serving non-profit organizations and governmental entities." The VPA is intended to cover the individual volunteer and does not necessarily protect the nonprofit organization.

The VPA provides limited protection. It provides that nonprofit or government volunteers will not be liable for harm caused by an act or omission of the volunteer if certain requirements are met:

- The volunteer must have been acting within the scope of his responsibilities.
- The volunteer must be properly licensed, certified, or authorized for the activities, if appropriate.
- The harm may not be caused by willful or criminal misconduct, gross negligence, reckless misconduct, or a conscious, flagrant indifference to the rights or safety of the individual harmed by the volunteer.
- The harm may not be caused by harm due to: the use of a motor vehicle, vessel or aircraft or any vehicle for which a license or insurance is required; flagrant indifference to the rights or safety of the individual harmed; sexual misconduct, hate crimes, crimes of violence, and conduct while under the use of alcohol or drugs.

There are five exceptions to the immunity:

- crimes of violence,
- hate crimes,
- acts of sexual misconduct,
- acts involving misconduct for which defendant has been convicted, and
- in instances in which defendant was under the influence of intoxicating alcohol or drugs at the time of misconduct.

The VPA expressly states that it does not prohibit actions brought against the volunteer by the nonprofit organization or governmental entity itself. Additionally, the VPA preempts state laws inconsistent with the VPA, unless the state law provides additional liability protection. States may elect not to comply with the VPA if they enact a law declaring that the VPA will not apply to the state.

State

The VPA provides a uniform law that preempts state laws inconsistent with the VPA, unless the state law provides additional protection. The VPA applies to all volunteers who meet the criteria in the Act, whether or not a state provides protection. For example, if a volunteer commits a tort in Alaska, where there is no state protection law, he or she would be covered by the VPA. If a volunteer commits a tort in Hawaii, where there is a state protection law, both the VPA and the Hawaii state law would apply as long as the Hawaii law was consistent with the VPA.
Of course, the VPA provides that states may elect not to comply with the VPA if they enact a law declaring that the VPA will not apply to the state. Please see appendix for state laws regarding volunteer liability.

Organizational Liability - Nonprofits or charitable organizations

Federal Laws

The VPA does not affect the liability of the organization or entity itself and no other federal laws offer liability protection for charitable organizations.

Charitable Immunity

The doctrine of charitable immunity gives charitable organizations immunity from liability for damages in tort. A majority of courts and legislatures in American jurisdictions have now abolished charitable immunity.

Courts in the following states have held that the doctrine of charitable immunity has been totally abolished: Arizona, California, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Minnesota, Missouri, New York, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Texas, Vermont, Washington, and Wisconsin. Additionally, Missouri, Nevada, and Wisconsin courts have held that the abolition of the immunity would apply prospectively from the dates of the decisions abrogating the immunity. However, courts in two states, Maryland and New Jersey, have upheld the doctrine of charitable immunity.

Respondeat Superior

An American Law Reports (ALR) article suggests one way in which organizations may be held liable for the actions of its volunteers is the doctrine of respondeat superior. Traditionally, the doctrine holds an employer liable for an employee’s acts committed within the scope of his or her employment. However, some jurisdictions have viewed volunteers as employees of charitable organizations and adopted the doctrine in cases involving charitable organizations. The following states have recognized the doctrine of respondeat superior is applicable to charitable organizations: Arizona, California, New York, and Washington. On the other hand, some jurisdictions find the doctrine inapplicable to charities, because the volunteer does not meet the traditional "master/servant" relationship in which the "servant's" activities profit the "master."

In jurisdictions employing the doctrine of respondeat superior to charitable organizations, courts have focused on the control of the charitable organization over the activities of the volunteer. For instance, a court would look at the organization’s direction and supervision of the volunteer who committed the tort. A court would also look at the amount of contact between the volunteer and the organization, including whether the volunteer was a regular volunteer or acted as an employee of the organization.
To protect itself from liability for the actions of its volunteers under the doctrine of respondeat superior, an organization should take measures to ensure that it properly instructs and supervises its volunteers. The ALR article advises charitable organizations to:

- Properly supervise its volunteers. Lack of proper supervision by a paid employee could open the charity up to a negligence action, especially when the volunteer was placed in a situation inappropriate for his age, experience, and lack of training.
- Structure the charity in a way that the asset-holding portion of the charity is separate from the portion of the organization which deals directly with the public.
- Structure the role of volunteers to a role similar to independent contractors to minimize the connection or control of the organization over the volunteer; however, be careful not to delegate “nondelegable” tasks.

Insurance

Charitable organizations may purchase several types of insurance coverage, including general liability insurance, directors and officers insurance, property and building insurance, and umbrella insurance. However, one legal scholar notes, “… the availability and cost of insurance is still prohibitive for many nonprofit entities. While there are nearly 1.4 million nonprofit organizations in the United States, very few of them purchase (or have the means to purchase) liability insurance.”

Company Liability - Corporate Volunteer Programs

Worker’s Compensation

Each state has worker’s compensation laws to cover injuries sustained by employees in the course and scope of their employment. The laws may vary from state to state in applicability and scope.

Employees injured during a company-sponsored volunteer activity may be covered by worker’s compensation insurance. However, the activity would have to be within the course and scope of the employee/volunteer’s employment. For instance, if Company A sponsored a beach clean-up during office hours and provided its employees with compensation, such as lunch and t-shirts, the activity could be considered within the scope of the employee/volunteer’s employment. If the employee is injured during the activity, he or she could be covered by Company A’s worker’s compensation insurance.

The doctrine of respondeat superior holds an employer liable for an employee’s acts committed within the scope of his or her employment. If an employee or another person were injured during the course of a volunteer activity, the company could be liable if the activity is considered to be within the course and scope of the person’s employment. Whether the activity is within the scope of employment would depend on the amount of control that the employer exercised over the activity.

In the event that the damages are not covered by a liability insurance policy, the volunteer director or volunteer executive officer shall not be personally liable for the damages if the board of directors of the corporation and the person had made all reasonable efforts in good faith to obtain available liability insurance.
(b) "Volunteer" means the rendering of services without compensation. "Compensation" means remuneration whether by way of salary, fee, or other consideration for services rendered. However, the payment of per diem, mileage, or other reimbursement expenses to a director or executive officer does not affect that person’s status as a volunteer within the meaning of this section.

(h) As used in this section as applied to nonprofit public benefit corporations which have an annual budget of less than twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) and that are exempt from federal income taxation under Section 501(c) (3) of the Internal Revenue Code, the condition of making "all reasonable efforts in good faith to obtain available liability insurance" shall be satisfied by the corporation if it makes at least one inquiry per year to purchase a general liability insurance policy and that insurance was not available at a cost of less than 5 percent of the previous year’s annual budget of the corporation. If the corporation is in its first year of operation, this subdivision shall apply for as long as the budget of the corporation does not exceed twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) in its first year of operation.

   An inquiry pursuant to this subdivision shall obtain premium costs for a general liability policy with an amount of coverage of at least five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000).
(4) (a) Any volunteer shall be immune from civil liability in any action on the basis of an act or omission of a volunteer resulting in damage or injury if:

(I) The volunteer is immune from liability for the act or omission under the federal “Volunteer Protection Act of 1997”, as from time to time may be amended, codified at 42 U.S.C. sec. 14501 et seq.; and

(II) The damage or injury was not caused by misconduct or other circumstances that would preclude immunity for such volunteer under the federal law described in subparagraph (I) of this paragraph (a).

(III) (Deleted by amendment, L. 2006, p. 531, § 1, effective July 1, 2006.)

(b) (I) Except as otherwise provided in subparagraph (II) of this paragraph (b), nothing in this section shall be construed to bar any cause of action against a nonprofit organization, nonprofit corporation, governmental entity, or hospital or change the liability otherwise provided by law of a nonprofit organization, nonprofit corporation, governmental entity, or hospital arising out of an act or omission of a volunteer exempt from liability for negligence under this section.

(II) A nonprofit organization, nonprofit corporation, governmental entity, or hospital that is formed for the sole purpose of facilitating the volunteer provision of health care shall be immune from liability arising out of an act or omission of a volunteer who is immune from liability under this subsection (4).

(5) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (4) of this section, a plaintiff may sue and recover civil damages from a volunteer based upon a negligent act or omission involving the operation of a motor vehicle during an activity; except that the amount recovered from such volunteer shall not exceed the limits of applicable insurance coverage maintained by or on behalf of such volunteer with respect to the negligent operation of a motor vehicle in such circumstances. However, nothing in this section shall be construed to limit the right of a plaintiff to recover from a policy of uninsured or underinsured motorist coverage available to the plaintiff as a result of a motor vehicle accident.

(a) GENERAL RULE.-- Except as provided otherwise in this section, no person who serves without compensation, other than reimbursement for actual expenses, as an officer, director or trustee of any nonprofit organization under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 (68A Stat. 3, 26 U.S.C. § 501(c)(3)) shall be liable for any civil damages as a result of any acts or omissions relating solely to the performance of his duties as an officer, director or trustee, unless the conduct of the person falls substantially below the standards generally practiced and accepted in like circumstances by similar persons performing the same or similar duties, and unless it is shown that the person did an act or omitted the doing of an act which the person was under a recognized duty to another to do, knowing or having reason to know that the act or omission created a substantial risk of actual harm to the person or property of another. It shall be insufficient to impose liability to establish only that the conduct of the person fell below ordinary standards of care.

(b) EXCEPTION.-- Nothing in this section shall be construed as affecting or modifying any existing legal basis for determining the liability, or any defense thereto, of any nonprofit association.

(a) SERVICES COVERED.—

(1) Except as provided otherwise in this section, no person who, without compensation and as a volunteer, renders public services for a nonprofit organization under section 501(c)(3), (4) or (6) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (68A Stat. 3, 26 U.S.C. § 501(c)(3), (4) or (6)) or for a Commonwealth or local government agency conducting or sponsoring a public service program or project shall be liable to any person for any civil damages as a result of any acts or omissions in rendering such services unless the conduct of such person falls substantially below the standards generally practiced and accepted in like circumstances by similar persons rendering such services and unless it is shown that such person did an act or omitted the doing of an act which such person was under a recognized duty to another to do, knowing or having reason to know that such act or omission created a substantial risk of actual harm to the person or property of another. It shall be insufficient to impose liability to establish only that the conduct of such person fell below ordinary standards of care.
(2) Except as provided otherwise in this section, no design professional who, without compensation and as a volunteer, provides professional services related to a declared national, State or local emergency caused by a major earthquake, hurricane, tornado, explosion, collapse or other similar disaster or catastrophic event at the request of or with the approval of a Federal, State or local public official, law enforcement official, public safety official or building inspection official acting in an official capacity shall be liable to any person for any civil damages as a result of any acts or omissions in rendering such services unless the conduct of such design professional falls substantially below the standards generally practiced and accepted in like circumstances by similar persons rendering such professional services and unless it is shown that such design professional did an act or omitted the doing of an act which such design professional was under a recognized duty to another to do, knowing or having reason to know that such act or omission created a substantial risk of actual harm to the person or property of another. It shall be insufficient to impose liability to establish only that the conduct of such design professional fell below ordinary standards of care.

(2) Nothing in this section shall be construed as affecting or modifying any existing legal basis for determining the liability, or any defense thereto, of any person not covered by the standard of negligence established by this section.

(c) ASSUMPTION OF RISK OR CONTRIBUTORY FAULT.— Nothing in this section shall be construed as affecting or modifying the doctrine of assumption of risk or contributory fault on the part of the participant.

Rhode Island

Notwithstanding any other provisions of this chapter:

(a) No person serving without compensation as a volunteer, director, officer, or trustee of a nonprofit corporation, including a corporation qualified as a tax exempt corporation under §
501(c) of the United States Internal Revenue Code, 26 U.S.C. § 501(c), or of an unincorporated nonprofit organization or an unincorporated public charitable institution qualified as a tax exempt organization under § 501(c) of the United States Internal Revenue Code, is liable to any person based solely on his or her conduct in the execution of the office or duty unless the conduct of the director, officer, trustee, or volunteer regarding the person asserting the liability constituted malicious, willful, or wanton misconduct. As used in this section, “compensation” does not include a per diem or per meeting allowance, health insurance benefits, or reimbursement for out of pocket costs and expenses incurred in the service. Nothing in these provisions is construed to exempt a volunteer from liability based upon his or her ownership and/or operation of a motor vehicle.

(b) Officers, directors, agents, servants, volunteers, and employees of a corporation are not liable for bodily injury to any person incurred while the person is practicing for, or participating in, any contest or exhibition of an athletic or sports nature sponsored by the corporation; provided, that the person has, or in the case of a minor, a parent or guardian of the minor has, signed a written waiver of liability of the corporation and acknowledgment of assumption of risk regarding the practicing for, or participating in, any contest or exhibition of an athletic or sports nature sponsored by the corporation.

South Carolina

(A) A person sustaining an injury or dying by reason of the tortious act of commission or omission of an employee of a charitable organization, when the employee is acting within the scope of his employment, may recover in an action brought against the charitable organization only the actual damages he sustains in an amount not exceeding the limitations on liability imposed in the South Carolina Tort Claims Act in Chapter 78 of Title 15. An action against the charitable organization pursuant to this section constitutes a complete bar to any recovery by the claimant, by reason of the same subject matter, against the employee of the charitable organization whose act or omission gave rise to the claim unless it is alleged and proved in the action that the employee acted in a reckless, wilful, or grossly negligent manner, and the employee must be joined properly as a party defendant. A judgment against an employee of a charitable organization may not be returned unless a specific finding is made that the employee acted in a reckless, wilful, or grossly negligent manner. If the charitable organization for which the employee was acting cannot be determined at the time the action is instituted, the plaintiff may name as a party defendant the employee, and the entity for which the employee was acting must be added or substituted as party defendant when it reasonably can be determined.

(B) If the actual damages from the injury or death giving rise to the action arose from the use or operation of a motor vehicle and exceed two hundred fifty thousand dollars, this section does not prevent the injured person from recovering benefits pursuant to Section 38-77-160 but in an amount not to exceed the limits of the uninsured or underinsured coverage.

ble organization is immune from civil liability for any act or omission resulting in death, damage, or injury if the volunteer was acting in the course and scope of the volunteer’s duties or functions, including as an officer, director, or trustee within the organization.
(b) [Repealed by Acts 2003, 78th Leg., ch. 204, § 18.03(2).]

services to the patient;

(2) the services provided are within the scope of the license of the volunteer; and

(3) before the volunteer provides health care services, the patient or, if the patient is a minor or is otherwise legally incompetent, the person responsible for the patient signs a written statement that acknowledges:

(A) that the volunteer is providing care that is not administered for or in expectation of compensation; and

(B) the limitations on the recovery of damages from the volunteer in exchange for receiving the health care services.

(d) A volunteer of a charitable organization is liable to a person for death, damage, or injury to the person or his property proximately caused by any act or omission arising from the operation or use of any motor-driven equipment, including an airplane, to the extent insurance coverage is required by Chapter 601, Transportation Code, and to the extent of any existing insurance coverage applicable to the act or omission.

(e) The provisions of this section apply only to the liability of volunteers and do not apply to the liability of the organization for acts or omissions of volunteers.
(f) Subsection (c) applies even if:

(1) the patient is incapacitated due to illness or injury and cannot sign the acknowledgment statement required by that subsection; or

(2) the patient is a minor or is otherwise legally incompetent and the person responsible for the patient is not reasonably available to sign the acknowledgment statement required by that subsection.

§ 84.006. Organization Liability

Except as provided in Section 84.007 of this Act, in any civil action brought against a non-hospital charitable organization for damages based on an act or omission by the organization or its employees or volunteers, the liability of the organization is limited to money damages in a maximum amount of $500,000 for each person and $1,000,000 for each single occurrence of bodily injury or death and $100,000 for each single occurrence for injury to or destruction of property.

§ 84.007. Applicability.

(a) This chapter does not apply to an act or omission that is intentional, wilfully negligent, or done with conscious indifference or reckless disregard for the safety of others.

(b) This chapter does not limit or modify the duties or liabilities of a member of the board of directors or an officer to the organization or its members and shareholders.

(c) This chapter does not limit the liability of an organization or its employees or volunteers if the organization was formed substantially to limit its liability under this chapter.

(d) This chapter does not apply to organizations formed to dispose, remove, or store hazardous waste, industrial solid waste, radioactive waste, municipal solid waste, garbage, or sludge as those terms are defined under applicable state and federal law. This subsection shall be liberally construed to effectuate its purpose.

(e) Sections 84.005 and 84.006 of this chapter do not apply to a health care provider as defined in Section 74.001, unless the provider is a federally funded migrant or community health center under the Public Health Service Act (42 U.S.C.A. Sections 254b and 254c) or is a nonprofit health maintenance organization created and operated by a community center under Section 534.101, Health and Safety Code, or unless the provider usually provides discounted services at or below costs based on the ability of the beneficiary to pay. Acceptance of Medicare or Medicaid payments will not disqualify a health care provider under this section. In no event shall Sections 84.005 and 84.006 of this chapter apply to a general hospital or special hospital as defined in Chapter 241, Health and Safety Code, or a facility or institution licensed under Subtitle C, Title 7, Health and Safety Code, or Chapter 242, Health and Safety Code, or to any health maintenance organization created.

(g) Sections 84.005 and 84.006 of this Act do not apply to any charitable organization that does not have liability insurance coverage in effect on any act or omission to which this chapter applies. The coverage shall apply to the acts or omissions of the organization and its employees and volunteers and be in the amount of at least $500,000 for each person and $1,000,000 for each single occurrence for death or bodily injury and $100,000 for each single occurrence for injury to or destruction of property. The coverage may be provided under a contract of insurance or other plan of insurance authorized by statute and may be satisfied by the purchase of a $1,000,000 bodily injury and property damage combined single limit policy. Nothing in this chapter shall limit liability of any insurer or insurance plan in an action under Chapter 21, Insurance Code, or in an action for bad faith conduct, breach of fiduciary duty, or negligent failure to settle a claim.

(1) Except as provided in Subsection (2), no volunteer providing services for a nonprofit organization incurs any legal liability for any act or omission of the volunteer while providing services for the nonprofit organization and no volunteer incurs any personal financial liability for any tort claim or other action seeking damage for an injury arising from any act or omission of the volunteer while providing services for the nonprofit organization if:

(a) the individual was acting in good faith and reasonably believed he was acting within the scope of his official functions and duties with the nonprofit organization; and

(b) the damage or injury was not caused by an intentional or knowing act by the volunteer which constitutes illegal, willful, or wanton misconduct.
(2) The protection against volunteer liability provided by this section does not apply

(3) Nothing in this section shall bar an action by a volunteer against an organization, its officers, or other persons who intentionally or knowingly misrepresent that a financially secure source of recovery does or will exist during a period when such a source does not or will not in fact exist.

(4) Nothing in this section shall be construed to place a duty upon a nonprofit organization to provide a financially secure source of recovery.

(5) The granting of immunity from liability to a volunteer under this section shall have no effect on the liability of the nonprofit organization providing the financially secure source of recovery.

Utah Code Ann. § 78-19-2

(1) the acts of its volunteers are not as described in Subsection 78-19-2(1) unless the nonprofit organization had, or reasonably should have had, reasonable notice of the volunteer’s unfitness to provide services to the nonprofit organization under circumstances that make the nonprofit organization’s use of the volunteer reckless or wanton in light of that notice; or

(2) a business employer would not be liable under the laws of this state if the act or omission were the act or omission of one of its employees.
